Next generation floor care

The RoboScrub 20 powered by BrainOS® represents the next generation of robotic floor care. Brain's advanced vision-based A.I. system enables the robot to navigate complex, real-world environments. The machine is designed to work safely and efficiently alongside employees and can still be used manually for ad-hoc situations.

Shape, colour and design of our products are subject to change in favour of further technical development. Pictures shown may include optional equipment

Vision-based A.I. capable of navigating complex environments

Intuitive user interface Simple operator setup and use. The BrainOS software can store up to 60 routes. The machine also benefits from being both a manual and autonomous machine. Route mapping is managed locally and performed by a trained operator therefore no engineer is required resulting in additional operational savings.
